

B00!

It's Halloween! A scary time of the year for sure. The nights are cooler, the air smells different, and the clock will soon "fall back" for daylight savings time changes. All the pumpkins are out of the field and on the deck for decorations. Time for cider and putting things away for seasonal change.

It's also a time to notice the year is almost over and holiday season is rapidly coming into focus.
Scary time for sure.
