

Waiting for News is Hard

Waiting for news is really hard. It causes all sorts of emotional trauma and your brain starts making you think of all the “what if” and seems to automatically go to the negative side. It is really hard to stay positive and to be patient until there is more news or an update that you can believe in.

I am trying really hard to just breathe... and to wait....

How about you?